LONDON MARKET.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—The stock market was quiet today. Lack of fresh business caused small and other mill-related securities to drop, and about half of the industrial and shipping stocks already priced at record levels were up. American securities sagged and generally were below par. Most of the foreign issues, however, were up. Prices in October are being reviewed on the basis of 4% interest. Preferred stocks declined, and the market was quiet. There was little supply and demand was very light. Many were under pressure, and some were under contract. The market was quiet, and the recent price movement was due to the recent rate of 4% per cent. The market was quiet, and the recent price movement was due to the recent rate of 4% per cent.
